Callaghans, Scherers Hosts at Dinners; Ensign Cobb, Jerry Gallager Visit Here

By Evelyn M. Dent

The Commander of the Military Sea Transportation Service Rear Admiral William McComb Callaghan and Mrs. Callaghan entertained at dinner last evening in their home. The guests included Admiral and Mrs. H. R. Thurber, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Augustus J. Wellings, and Rear Admiral and Mrs. Jeffrey C. Metzger.

The event gave friends of the Wellings a further opportunity to say farewell before they leave for Admiral Wellings' new post as commander, Amphibious Training Command Atlantic Fleet, Little Creek, Virginia.

On Tuesday the Officer's and Staff of the Military Sea Transportation Service entertained at a 6 to 8 o'clock reception in the Anchor Room of the Officers Mess at Bethesda Naval Medical Center to welcome the new Vice Commander of the service Rear Admiral L. S. Sabin, and to say goodbye to Admiral and Mrs. Wellings.

Among the guests at this hall-and-farewell reception were Rear Admiral and Mrs. Callaghan, Vice Admiral and Mrs. Edward J. Cochran, Maj. Gen. Frank Heileman, Brig. Gen. Frank Besson, Mrs. Sabin and many more.

Gen. and Mrs. Charles Warfield of Stockton, Calif., will arrive early next week to be the house guests of Col. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Tull. Mrs. Tull will entertain at luncheon for them on Wednesday, April 11.

Gen. and Mrs. Warfield are well known in Washington and their many friends will remember with affection their pleasant house in Chevy Chase and the gracious entertaining done there while the Warfields were on duty here.

Mrs. Herman Feldman, wife of the Quartermaster General, will also entertain for them while they are here.

Rear Admiral Morton D. Willcutts who retires after 35 years' naval service, expects to continue his active life as a physician and will leave almost immediately for California, where he will become medical director of San Quentin Prison. Mrs. Willcutts and their daughters, Diane and Anne, will accompany him. They have been attending Sacred Heart School in Bethesda.

Morton Willcutts, Jr., and David were in town for the Easter vacation but have returned to their studies at the University of Indiana. They will join their parents for summer vacations.

Last evening Col. and Mrs. Harris Scherer entertained at dinner for their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Censlager of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weeden and their daughter, Miss Emma Weeden, of Boston, Mass., and Mr. Phillip H. Dumbille of New York.

There were 14 guests at dinner. Tonight Col. Scherer's brother and sister-in-law will give a supper party for the visitors.

Col. and Mrs. Allan Williams will have as their house guests for several days Capt. and Mrs. Julian Wilson of Cape Cod, Mass.

Lt. and Mrs. C. E. Henry will be at home today from 5 to 7 o'clock and will have as their honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher Brown of Boston, Mass., who are here spending the week with them. Their cousin, Mr. Jerry G. Gallager, will also arrive sometime today from his home at Fairhaven, N. J., where he has been visiting his parents, Maj. and Mrs. J. G. Gallager. He is en route to Duke University, after Easter vacation.

Gold Cup Date Set for May 5

Subscriptions to sponsor the 27th running of the Virginia Gold Cup have been received in the mail by prominent members of the hunt set and socialites in Washington, Baltimore, New York and Richmond.

As usual, the steeplechase will be held at Broadview Farm, the estate of Mr. Martin Vogel, Jr., on route 29, just north of Warrenton. This year, however, the running will be held more than a month later than usual. The date—Saturday, May 5.

Numerous luncheons, dinners and cocktail parties have been arranged by Warrenton residents, among them the luncheon Mr. Russell Arundel, master of the Warrenton Hunt and head of the race, will give for race officials and invited guests at his Wild Cat Mountain Farm. Another committee member entertaining is Mr. Francis T. Greene, who will give a luncheon.

Other members of the Race Committee are the Messrs. Randolph Duffey, Albert Hinckley, Raymond D. McGrath, William L. Rochester, Jr.; Robert C. Winnill and Martin Vogel, Jr.

The Gold Cup ball, which traditionally follows the race, may give way to a series of smaller dances this year, due to the exigencies of the national emergency. The Warrenton country school, where the ball is usually held, has recently been procured by the Federal Government and is being used for defense purposes.

The public is invited to watch this sporting classic, which climaxes the jumping meets which are beginning in the South at this time. Proceeds of the Virginia Gold Cup traditionally go to charity.

Longway entertained on Friday at a 6-to-8 o'clock reception in the attractive Officers' Club at the United States Naval Academy. Their ranking guests were Admiral and Mrs. Alfred W. Chandler, Admiral and Mrs. Clarence V. Rault, and Admiral and Mrs. Sperry O. Claytor, who all went from Washington to attend the affair. Among others were Capt. and Mrs. Walter Reheuer, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Irons, Capt. and Mrs. Alvin H. Grunewald, Capt. and Mrs. B. W. Esterling, Capt. and Mrs. Gerald Parker, Capt. and Mrs. Kenneth O. Turner, and many more.

Retired Vice Admiral and Mrs. Calvin H. Cobb have with them for a week or 10 days their son, Ensign Warrington A. Cobb who will go from here to his new station at sea. Ensign Cobb served in Korean waters until his Christmas leave which he spent with Admiral and Mrs. Cobb. Following the holidays he was sent to the mine sweeper school and recently completed the course. He will be aboard a mine sweeper in the Pacific.

Mrs. Alfred Koster To Be Speaker

A former newspaper and magazine staff writer of Indianapolis and New York, who combines free-lance writing with being Service wife, will present the program at the guest day luncheon of the Industrial Wives' Club on Wednesday at Fort Lesley J. McNair. Mrs. Alfred M. Koster, wife of Col. Koster, will give a collection of humorous rhymes "For Belles," all on Service life, and which have been published.

Mrs. B. S. Waterman, pianist, will play musical accompaniment for several of the rhymes. Highlight of the program will be the presentation of original musical numbers by Dorothy Ely, wife of Col. William Ely.

Hostesses for this event will be Mrs. T. E. McMahon, Mrs. F. E. Calhoun, Mrs. A. V. Endress, Mrs. P. S. Day, Mrs. G. O. Pearson and Mrs. A. R. Glafka.
